
SUPPORT WORKER ADMIN

Monthly Admin

As a support worker for Time Specialist Support there are certain Admin tasks that you must complete. In this section, we will explore the monthly tasks you will have to complete, how to do them and when you need to complete them.

Your calendar is our guide

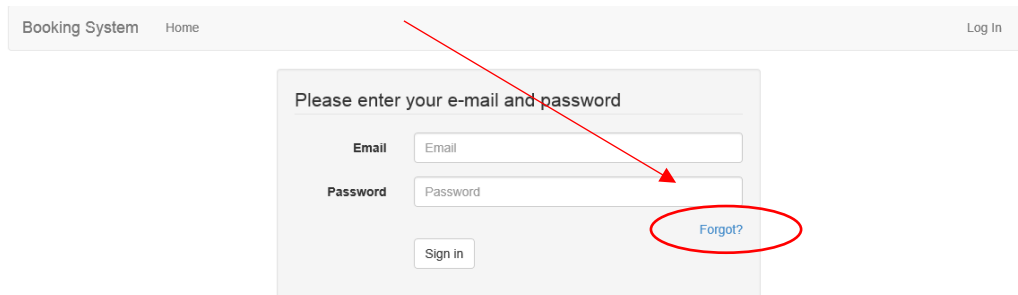

Each month you will be asked to update your calendar as part of the monthly bookings process (this is explained later), all of our support worker calendars are on an online system known as the bookings system.

Step 1: Login

When you are first set up on the system, you will need to reset your password by going to the following website:

<http://booking-system.time-specialist-support.com/users/login>

Click on the link that says Forgot?

Please enter your e-mail and password

Enter your email address and click “Send email”. You should then receive an email with a link to reset your password, once this is done you will have access to the bookings system.

On some Apple mobile devices (iPhones and iPads) the Forgot? link seems not to work. If this happens, please reset your password using another device (any computer or non-Apple mobile device should work) and then you can do everything else on your original device if you prefer.

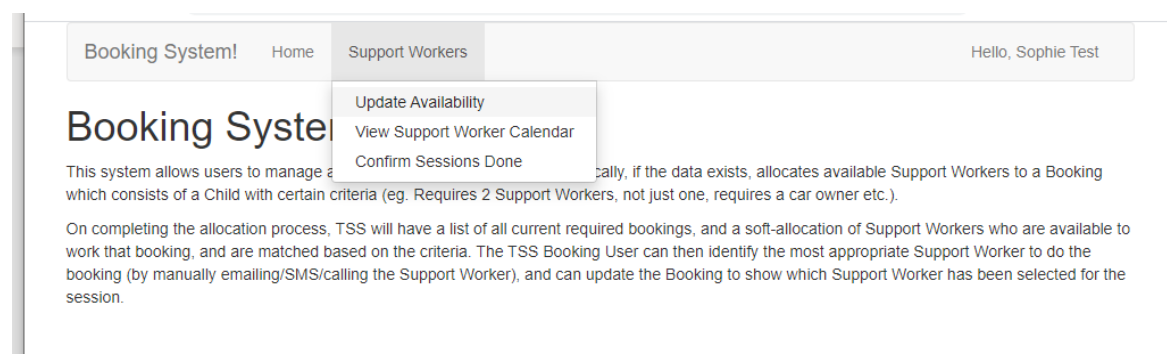

Once you have successfully logged in this will be the page that you see.

Step 2: Updating your Availability

1: Access the correct area to update availability

- Pick: Support Workers > Update Availability
- Then select the month and year on the following page

NB – You can start inputting your availability at any point through the month. You can also enter data in several goes if needed. Make sure you hit the Update Availability button at the bottom of the page to save it, then you can finish it off another time. But make sure you have completed updating your calendar by the deadline which you will be made aware of through an email from the bookings team!

2: Update the number of hours you would like to work

At the top of this page, you will see a box where you can input how many hours you would like to work for that month (including your regulars). You need to enter a number into this box and remember we recommend a minimum of 20 hours a month so you can build up your confidence and we can match you with a regular family which is necessary to pass your probation period.

3: Update Availability

You will see a row for each day of the month, you need to input your availability for each and every day of the month, if you are unsure of your availability it is better to mark yourself as unavailable and then to ask if there are any sessions you can cover once you are aware of your availability.

For each day, you've got a choice to be:

- unavailable all day
- available all day
- free over one/two time period(s)

You need to fill one of these for EACH day, EVEN those when you already have sessions booked. The office needs to know, aside from your pre-booked session, if/when you are free for the rest of the day. Any of the 3 possibilities can be used on a day where you have a session booked.

Also, remember that the majority of our sessions take place on week-day evenings during term time and weekends between the hours of 9:00-13:00 and 14:00-18:00.

5: Check all is saved appropriately

The system can sometimes be a bit fiddly or the internet connection plays up, so it's worth checking what you inputted is correct before leaving the bookings system. Then that's 'updating your availability' all done!

Booking System!HomeSupport WorkersHello, Sophie Test

Booking System

This system allows users to manage a list of bookings, and if the data exists, allocates available Support Workers to a Booking which consists of a Child with certain criteria (eg. Requires 2 Support Workers, not just one, requires a car owner etc.).

On completing the allocation process, TSS will have a list of all current required bookings, and a soft-allocation of Support Workers who are available to work that booking, and are matched based on the criteria. The TSS Booking User can then identify the most appropriate Support Worker to do the booking (by manually emailing/SMS/calling the Support Worker), and can update the Booking to show which Support Worker has been selected for the session.

Step 3: Approving sessions added to your calendar by the office team

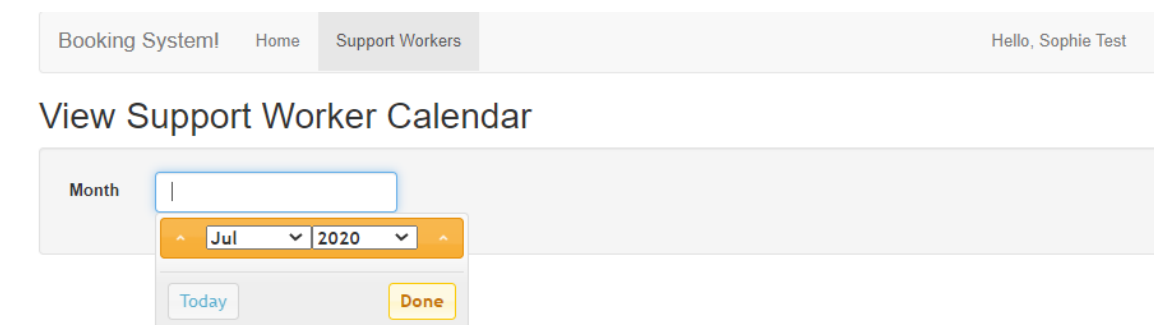

During the bookings cycle there are two points where the office team add sessions to your calendar; before bookings day when we add any regular sessions that you might have and then on bookings day where we add sessions that need covering depending on your availability. Once we have added these sessions you will be asked to approve them and here is how you do that.

From the home page click on the 'Support Workers' tab, then click on 'View Support Worker Calendar' as shown below:

From there you will need to select the month & year, as shown below:

Once you have selected the calendar for that month this will now be show, please see the example below:

As you can see in the image above there is a session which has been added to the support worker's calendar, they have a choice to approve the session (blue button) or reject the session (red button). Once a session has been approved it must be honoured and when rejecting a session you must ensure you put a reason why you are rejecting the session.

Please note you should not reject sessions once you have updated your availability. If there is a problem at this point or the office team have made an error please contact us to discuss this before rejecting.

You should only reject if the session was added before you updated your availability and you're unavailable.

Step 4: The Jot Form

The final stage of completing your monthly availability is the Jot Form, this form is for you to tell us if there are any children you really want to work with again or do not wish to work with and if any events are taking place if you would like to attend.

By clicking the submit button, the form is emailed to the bookings team alerting them that the support worker has completed all of the above tasks. It is crucial you complete this step, otherwise, you will be marked as late for missing the deadline.

Note that the very first time you complete your availability, so we can arrange your shadowing, you will probably not need to complete a Jot form, we will always email you the link to a Jot form when you need to complete one.

So that's it for this section let's keep this journey going and head to the next section.

Booking Cycle

In this section, you will learn about our bookings cycle (mentioned earlier). Here at Time Specialist Support, we try to arrange all sessions a month at a time. A lot of time and preparation, which you as a support worker play a very important role in, culminates in one particular day in the middle of the month that we call 'bookings day'. All the preparation that goes into bookings day is to ensure that our families get the right support workers, on the days they want and to avoid letting down our families and most importantly the young people we support.

1. One week prior to bookings day, the office will send an email to all support workers asking them to complete their online availability for the next month. The email will contain all the information support workers need to complete their availability, any events happening, the link to the jot form and of course the deadline Support Workers need to have everything done by.
2. OVER TO YOU! This stop on our path is where the support workers take over. This is where you complete your monthly availability that we learnt about in the previous section: updating your availability, approving any sessions the office have already added to your calendars and finally completing and submitting your Jot Forms.
3. This is 'Bookings Day'; the bookings team in the office spend a couple of days allocating sessions to support workers calendars based on all the information you provided at the previous stop.
4. Once 'Bookings day' has finished the office then sends another email to all support to check and approve their calendars and the deadline to complete it by.
5. OVER TO YOU! Support workers then have the very important task of checking their calendars, checking that the bookings team haven't made mistakes (like double booking), checking who the other support worker is on 2:1 sessions and then approving the sessions by clicking those little blue approve buttons. You will see there is also a button to “reject” sessions on your support worker calendar. We do not expect sessions to be “rejected” at this stage, however, if for a very valid reason you are unable to approve a session, or if an error has been made by the office, please contact us to discuss this first and we will advise you how to proceed.
6. Once all the sessions have been approved the bookings team can then send out all the calendars to the families so that they know what sessions they have and who will be supporting their children.

Note that in order to pass the probationary period you need to have worked a minimum of six months and have completed 120 hours of paid work. We recommend all support workers work a minimum of 20 hours per month to build up your skillset and confidence, obtain a regular family and for us to be able to assess your progress.

Step 5: Confirming Sessions Done

The final part of the Support Workers Monthly Admin is confirming the sessions you have done for the month. It is extremely important you do this correctly to ensure you are paid correctly and that the service users' invoices are generated accurately. This step must be completed on the last day of the month at the very latest, however, you can confirm every session individually as you go through the month too if you prefer.

We recommend that support workers confirm their sessions as they move through the month. So after every session we suggest going to your confirm sessions done page to confirm your sessions- this way you will make sure each session is confirmed correctly with the right information added if needed.

1: Go to 'Support Worker Calendar'

Please ensure you have approved all sessions on support worker calendar for that month. If any of your sessions on this page are not approved then they will not show on your 'Confirm Sessions Done' page, which we will discuss next, and consequently you will not be paid for this session but also, it will mean the service users invoice at the end of the month will also be incorrect. You will know if a session is approved as it will be GREEN. If it is not approved – it will still be in white with a yellow strip underneath asking you to approve or reject it, see example below:

3: Confirming Sessions Done

After each session you should go onto this page. For every session, you should first check that the date, times and if it is a 2:1 session- that the workers are correct and that the right person is named as the lead worker. Once you have reviewed these details, you should select one of the following options for each and every session:

- As planned- if all the fields shown are correct and the session went ahead exactly as booked.
- Went Ahead with changes- you should select this option if the session went ahead but not as originally booked, for example, if the other worker on the session changed and has not been updated on the system, if the date/time of the session was different to what is showing on this page, or if the session ran over and the office have authorised for you to claim for this extra time. If you select this option, you will then need to provide details of what the changes were in the box to the right. This information will then be available for the office to view and check.
- Cancelled- if you need to cancel a session or the family inform you they want to cancel their session then you should always report this cancellation to the office. Once the cancellation is brought to the office's attention they should then confirm this session as cancelled for you. However, if at the end of the month there are any sessions that were cancelled but the office have not filled out the details please contact them again and they will do this, also if anything looks incorrect with the cancellation bring this to the office's attention too.

You will also see 'Mentor', 'Late Booking' and 'Area Enhancement' options.

- Sometimes the office will send out messages asking you to cover a session at the last minute and will offer an enhanced flat rate if you do so. You are responsible for claiming if you cover a session and are authorised to claim for the session as a late booking, to do this you just need to select 'Yes' next to the 'late booking' option on your confirm sessions done page- the office record which staff are authorised to claim for this throughout the month and will check who has claimed at the end of every month.
- Once you have passed your probation period with Time you may be asked to be a mentor and have a new support worker shadow one of your sessions. If this happens the office should update your confirm sessions done page to show that you were a mentor on a session. However, if you do Mentor a new support worker and the office have not updated your page to show this please get in touch so that we can correct this.
- Lastly, please do not use the 'area enhancement' option- this is not in use currently.

4: Save and check!

After you have made any changes on this page you should then scroll to the bottom of the page, ensure that the option 'send email to worker' is selected from the drop-down menu and select 'confirm' to save your changes. If you do not click 'confirm' the information you have filled out will not be saved and you will have to redo it.

Once you have clicked 'confirm' the sessions you have confirmed will turn blue. You cannot make any changes to a session once you have confirmed it so it is your responsibility to check the details are correct- if you have made any mistakes which you cannot rectify please contact the office at timesheets@time-specialist-support.com so we can correct this- it is your responsibility to check that the details are correct. As well as confirming if the sessions went ahead as planned/with changes or was cancelled – please double check the following:

- Mentor – yes/no
- Late booking – yes/no
- Liaison worker correct
- Second worker correct
- Number of hours correct

Even though the office are confirming cancelled sessions for you, please double check this too. It is up to you to check that this has been recorded correctly.

The information you provide will be checked by the office and used by the system to automatically calculate your gross pay and also for invoices.

If all of this is done correctly you will receive an email with a 'receipt' attached detailing all the sessions you have confirmed, see example below:

Support Worker Confirmation Report.
